

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Department of Economics, Bodoland University for giving me the opportunity to pursue this research work.

I am greatly indebted to Dr. Keshab Basumatary, Principal, B.B. Kishan College, Jalah, Baksa, Assam under whose supervision the present study has been completed. It is privilege to me to express my profound gratitude to him as the study could not be completed without his helpful guidance.

I extent my special gratitude to Prof. Manjit Das, Department of Economics, BU for encouraging me to carry out the present research work and completion of the research work in time.

I express my sincere thanks to the library authorities of Bodoland University; Gauhati University; OKD Institute of Social Change and Development, Guwahati; National Institute of Rural Development (NIRD), Guwahati; Central Institute of Technology (CIT), Kokrajhar; District Library, Kokrajhar for allowing me to use their library facilities.

While carrying out field survey, in connection with present study, I received assistance and support from a large number of people. The sample households gave me full co-operation providing all types of required information. I am personally thankful to Debajit Mitra of Kokrajhar, BTC, Assam who helped me in data collection during the field survey; and Rahin Chandra Das, Bongaigaon College, Bongaigaon, Assam who helped me in data processing work.

My Wife Padumi Mwchahary, daughter Kiwi and son Dixion had to bear a lot of hardship in the course of my study. I must acknowledge my sincere thanks to them.

SANSWRANG MWCHAHARY
