

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Through these lines, I would like to express my profound gratitude and indebtedness to several people who have generously devoted their time, trouble and patience during the period of my research work.

I express my sincere gratitude and appreciation to my Supervisor, Dr. Ratneswar Debnath for his guidance, keen interest, constructive suggestions and constant support during the period of my Ph. D programme without which this work couldn't have seen the light of the day.

I am deeply grateful to Dr. Mridula Devi, HOD, Department of economics, Bodoland University, for providing instantaneous and all round support and guidance through innovative ideas and thoughts during the entire period of my research work which has shaped the work into its present form.

I am also highly indebted to the Chairman of DRC, Economics Department, Dr. Manjit Das who had devoted his much of time in providing valuable suggestions and needful support during my research period.

I extend my thanks to Dr. Keshab Basumatary for his constructive ideas and suggestions who has been the HOD in the Department of economics, BU during the initial period of research and to Mr. Sanswring Mwchahary, Associate Prof. BU, Mr. Sijousa Basumatary, Dr. Konita Basumatary and Mr. Ringcher Basumatary, Asstt. Professors, BU, for their suggestions, help and co-operation while doing this research work. I also pay a big thanks to office staff in the Department of Economics.

My entire field work concentrated in the four districts of BTAD. On my visits to those schools, I received warm reception and co-operation from the head of the institutions, teachers and students in providing valuable information through the filled-in questionnaires. I thank to all the informants who have given required and necessary information.

On my visits to those households, I received a warm welcome and a positive co-operation in providing the needful information, my special thanks are also due with those informants.

I would also like to express my heartfelt gratitude to the Principal of Bengtol College, Dr. Ranjit Kr. Narzary for giving me an opportunity to carry out my research, regards to my colleagues and well wishers in the college.

Due regards to my brother-in-law Mr. Gwmwthao Narzary, Asstt. Prof., Deptt. of Economics, U. N. Academy College for helping me in the desired work.

Last but not the least, I express my sincere thanks to my wife Mrs. Kahima Narzary for being a source of inspiration and constant support, to my family members for their instant support and prayer and to my well wishers for their valuable advice for achieving my goal.
