

CONTENTS

Chapter	Title	Page No.
I	INTRODUCTION AND RESEARCH DESIGN	1-23
1.1	Introduction	1
1.2	Concept and definitions	4
1.3	Objectives	17
1.4	Hypothesis	18
1.5	Methodology and data collection	18
1.6	Justification for undertaking the study	22
1.7	Chapterization	23
II	PROFILE OF THE STUDY AREA, GOALPARA DISTRICT OF ASSAM	24-36
2.1	Study area: Goalpara district of Assam	25
2.2	Historical background of Goalpara district	25
2.3	Geographical features and agro ecology of Goalpara district	26
2.4	Administrative features	28
2.5	Demographic pattern of Goalpara district	30
2.6	Demography of Assam	30
2.7	Economy of Goalpara district	30
2.8	Identification of agro eco-situations (AES)	31
2.9	Land utilization and irrigation facilities	32
2.10	Village level infrastructures related to health and sanitation	32
2.11	Infrastructures and support services in agriculture, storage facilities, transporting and marketing	33
2.12	Household, household amenities	33
2.13	Workers profile	33
2.14	Agro processing unit, sericulture and fisheries sectors	34
2.15	Extension reforms in agriculture and allied sectors	34
2.16	Infrastructures and support services in livestock sector	35
2.17	Livestock resources and livestock products in the district	35

III	REVIEW OF LITERATURE	37-59
3.1	Socio-economic profile of the women participating in livestock enterprises.	38
3.2	Livelihood sustainability of women through livestock enterprises	43
3.3	Livestock enterprises	54
IV	LIVESTOCK WEALTH AND ITS CONTRIBUTION TO INDIAN ECONOMY	60-69
4.1	Livestock wealth, products, and contribution in India	61
4.2	Livestock sector its various components and livestock products in Assam	63
4.3	Contribution from livestock sector in Goalpara district	69
V	SOCIO-ECONOMIC PROFILES OF RURAL WOMEN PARTICIPATING IN LIVESTOCK ENTERPRISES	70-120
5.1	Age	70
5.2	Education (self)	73
5.3	Family's educational qualification	74
5.4	Family type	76
5.5	Possession of cultivable land	77
5.6	Possession of total land	78
5.7	Classification of the respondents of the basis their land sizes	79
5.8	Family size of respondents	80
5.9	Participation in training programme of livestock and poultry	82
5.10	Primary occupation of the respondents	84
5.11	Milk yield of the respondents	85
5.12	Annual meat production by the respondents	87
5.13	Egg production by the respondents annually	88
5.14	Livestock possession of the respondents	89
5.15	Species- wise livestock possession	91
5.16	Income from livestock	92
5.17	Income of the respondents from sources other than livestock	93
5.18	Total annual income of the respondents	95
5.19	Social participation	96
5.20	Mass media exposure of the respondents	97
5.21	Extension contact	98

5.22	Participation in decision making in livestock management and marketing	99
5.23	Knowledge in improved livestock farming	101
5.24	Mode of participation in decision making in livestock management and marketing	103
5.25	Awareness of the respondents towards govt. programme for livestock development	106
5.26	Distribution of the respondents on the basis of their receipt/non receipt of govt. subsidies through bank linkage/other financial institutions for livestock	108
5.27	Relation and analysis of socio-economic variable of the respondents with their total livestock population	108
5.28	Regression analysis of socio-economic variable of the respondents on their livestock population	110
5.29	Relation analysis of socio-economic variable with milk production	111
5.30	Regression analysis of the socio-economic variable on milk production	112
5.31	Relational analysis of socio-economic variable with egg production	113
5.32	Regression analysis of socio-economic variable with egg production	114
5.33	Relational analysis of socio-economic variable with income from livestock	115
5.34	Regression analysis of socio-economic variable with income from livestock	117
5.35	Relational analysis of socio-economic variable with meat production	118
5.36	Regression analysis of socio-economic variable with meat production	120
VI	NATURE AND EXTEND OF PARTICIPATION OF FEMALE LABOUR IN LIVESTOCK ENTERPRISES	121-146
6.1	Improved livestock management practices	122
6.2	Involvement in vaccination practices in different species	125
6.3	Concentrate feeding in livestock and poultry	127
6.4	Deworming of livestock and poultry	129
6.5	Pregnancy diagnosis by the help of veterinarian	129
6.6	Fodder cultivation	130
6.7	Length of time spent in activities related livestock enterprise	132
6.8	Level of participation in livestock related activities	133
6.9	Frequency of female participation activity wise.	135

6.10	Nature of female participation in livestock related activities	136
6.11	Association of participation in livestock related activities with perceived level of household food security in pooled data.	140
6.12	Association of female participation in livestock related activities with household food security in tribal people	141
6.13	Association of participation in livestock related activities with household food security in non tribal people	142
6.14	Association of improved livestock management practices with household food security in pooled sample	143
6.15	Association of improved livestock management practices with household food security in tribal women	144
6.16	Association of improved livestock management practices with food security in non-tribal people	146
VII	ROLE OF WOMEN IN ENHANCING HOUSEHOLD FOOD SECURITY THROUGH LIVESTOCK PRODUCTS	147-176
7.1	Impact of livestock enterprises on livelihood sustainability	148
7.2	Level of livelihood sustainability	160
7.3	Role of women in enhancing household food security through livestock products	162
7.4	Frequency distribution of the respondents on the basis of their level of perceived food security through livestock products	173
7.5	Relationship of livelihood sustainability with knowledge level, improved livestock management practices and extent of participation in livestock related activities.	175
7.6	Relationship of food security with livestock products	176
VIII	SUMMARY, SUGGESTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS, CONCLUSION	177-196
8.1	Salient findings of the study	180
8.2	Suggestions and Recommendations	190
8.3	Conclusion	191
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	197-210
	ANNEXURE I	I – X
	ANNEXURE II	XI