

Acknowledgement

The novels written with issues of the subaltern are a vast area in the contemporary times. It is developing greatly with the emergence of new drifts and techniques that are dispersing branches in diverse directions. Like many other Indian novelists, the fictional world of Mahasweta Devi and Arundhati Roy expresses subaltern sensibility in a remarkable manner. It would have been a very daunting assignment for me to work on the novels of Mahasweta Devi and Arundhati Roy, had I not got help from the faculty members of English Department, Bodoland University and some other individuals. English Department has helped by allowing me to proceed in this project and giving important inputs. From the time I submitted my synopsis on the topic, it had been a smooth ride for me altogether.

However, the project was successfully completed because of the contribution of some individuals. The first person I have to acknowledge is my guide, Prof. Pradip Kumar Patra of the Department of English, Bodoland University. I wish to extend my gratefulness to him for the support and sustenance that he gave me during the research process by sharing his expertise with me so generously and ensured that I complete my research in time. I am also indebted to Dr. Tanushree Nayak, Assistant Professor of CIT, Kokrajhar for her insightful estimation with regard to my topic.

I am also thankful to the Almighty God for blessing me with good health for an uninterrupted research process.

I cannot complete this acknowledgement without citing the help of my family and friends. Foremost in the list are my parents Mr. Gunasindhu Das Talukdar and Mrs. Nibedita Das Talukdar, who always inspired me with their encouraging words. Their intimidation at every step of the expedition helped me in completing the project within the stipulated timeframe. I am indebted to them for being so much involved with my work and providing me comfort of every kind so that I remain engaged with my work all through. I am also thankful to my brother Debjyoti Das Talukdar and sister-in-law Deblina Bhattacharjee for providing emotional support during the course of this demanding work. I am also grateful to my esteemed teacher Mr. Surajit Mahanta of Tezpur Govt. B. Ed. College for boosting my morale by giving important responses regarding research.

Last, but not the least I would like to mention my friends and well-wishers particularly, Dr. Piyali Dutta, Mrs. Tarali Nayak, and Miss Aparna Talukdar for their inspiration to complete my research work. Finally, I would like to thank the staff and students of St. Ann's college for their kind cooperation during the completion of my research work.
