Acknowledgement

At the outset I would like to thank each and everyone connected with my journey towards the completion of this thesis at the Bodoland University, the commencement of which was initiated and encouraged by my esteemed colleague Prof. Chandanashis Laha, now-retired, Department of English, University of North Bengal, and I thank him duly for his contribution. He shared with me a lively interest for the fiction of William Golding.

In the preparation of this thesis, I am deeply grateful to my supervisor, Prof. Pradip Kumar Patra, Department of English, Bodoland University. His constructive criticism, useful suggestions and moral support helped me in the shaping of this thesis. He placed at my disposal all his valuable time with the utmost understanding, infinite tolerance and patience. It was his constant encouragement and support that motivated me to complete this thesis.

I am also grateful to Dr. Debajyoti Biswas, Head of the Department, Department of English, Bodoland University, for his ready support and help, which will remain a nice experience for me.

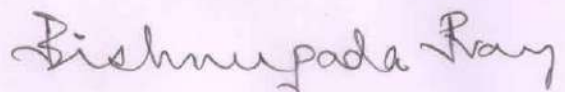

I am highly indebted to all the teachers of the Department of English, Bodoland University, Dr. Rustam Brahma, Dr. Manab Medhi, Dr. Z. Khiangte, Dr. Chandrima Sen and Dr. Pratusha Bhowmik, for their constant help and valuable suggestions in the shaping of my thesis.

I express my gratefulness to Mr. Khagen Kalita, Librarian, Central Library, Bodoland University, for his suggestions and insights that he shared with me.

Lastly, I would like to thank all my friends, my family members, relatives, my colleagues at the Department of English, University of North Bengal, and well-wishers who have always remained the backbone of a moral support through thick and thin. And I thank all other people whom I probably missed out mentioning.
