Declaration

I, Kankana Bhowmick, hereby declare that this thesis entitled “Climate Change and Anthropocene: Reading Environmental Catastrophe in Select Fictions from South Asia” is the result of my own research endeavour which has been carried out under the supervision of Dr. Pratusha Bhowmik of Bodoland University. In addition, I declare that neither the entire thesis nor any portion of it has been previously submitted to any other academic institution. Three journals that are included in UGC Care List have published my articles based on the ideas discussed in some portions of my thesis: Caraivéti (Department of French Studies, Banaras Hindu University), English Forum (Department of English, Gauhati University) and NIU International Journal of Human Rights (Noida International University). The requirements for obtaining Ph.D degree were partially fulfilled by the publication of these articles in these journals.

Acknowledgements

It gives me immense joy to express my gratitude to everyone who made a contribution, directly or indirectly, to the accomplishment of this research. This thesis would not be complete without expressing my sincere appreciation and deep gratitude to all those who have provided constant support during the progress and completion of this thesis.

First and foremost, I would like to extend my gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Pratusha Bhowmik. Her constant guidance and an abundance of knowledge have been instrumental in sculpting my academic growth from the early phases of tailoring my proposal for this research all the way through to the final version of my thesis. Over the course of my study, she guided me through the maze of research until I reached my destination. I shall be eternally grateful to her for every effort she made to help me reach this point in my development. She was constantly in touch, offering advice, criticism, direction, encouragement, and, most importantly, a persistent push to keep going and finish my work. Her skilled guidance and emotional support were invaluable resources for me throughout my entire research project, and I consider myself very fortunate to have received them. It was an unforgettable experience interacting with her, and I shall always remember it fondly.

I am indebted to all the faculty members of the Department of English, Bodoland University, for the help, concern, guidance and advice they always bestowed upon me. I am grateful to Prof. P. K. Patra, Dr. Debajyoti Biswas, Dr. Rustam Brahma, Dr. Manab Medhi, Dr. Zothanchhingi Khiangte, and Dr. Chandrima Sen for their remarkable insights and guidance. There are not enough words to adequately convey how much I appreciate their generosity for helping me. I would like to convey my deepest gratitude to other members of teaching and non-teaching faculty of the university for their support and cooperation. I count it as a blessing that I am a scholar at this department where the faculty members cultivate an environment that value fresh ideas and methods while also addressing areas of weakness.

I am indebted to my exceptional fellow scholar, Nijira Basumatary, who has helped me during the most challenging phase of this journey. I feel proud to say that we have developed a strong bond beyond being mere fellow scholars. It is with profound gratitude that I acknowledge the other fellow scholars who have encouraged and helped me to continue working on this project.

I extend my gratitude to Dr. Arnab Baul and Padumi Singha for their advice and support. I am also grateful to the faculty members of the Department of English, Bongaigaon College.

I extend my gratitude to Mr. Pravakar Tiwari, who has been an incredible source of support and helpful information. I acknowledge his contribution for sowing the seed of curiosity and analytical thinking within me.

I am incredibly indebted to my parents, who have always been there for me and helped me stay motivated. My father, Mr. Kashiswar Bhowmick, has been my strength throughout my academic career, and I could not have dreamed of reaching this point without him. Reflecting upon this journey, I am reminded of my mother, Mrs. Sampa Bhowmick, whose ceaseless prayers and selfless sacrifices in raising me have made me who I am today. My loving sister Shreyashi Bhowmick and her husband Deep Das have been my greatest sources of motivation and inspiration throughout my journey, and I am profoundly thankful to them.

With pleasure, I am indeed thankful to my friends Puspita Dey, Papiya Bhattacharjee, Anjan Roy, Swatilekha Debnath, Arpana Sarkar Bhattacharjee, Debdulal Chanda, Laboni Saha, Subhankar Chakraborty, Suvankar Raha and a few others for their constant motivation. Their presence has been an incredible source of both emotional and practical support for me.

Finally, I give God the glory for restoring my faith and providing the strength needed to persevere through times of despair and for illuminating my path.
